

Customer Experience: In-Person Delivery Order

Wonder what customers see when they get your invitation to purchase cookies?

1

A customer receives a girl's email announcing that cookie season is open. The customer clicks the "Order Now" link and is taken to the girl's Digital Cookie site.

Dear Suzie,

Craving your favorite Girl Scout Cookies? I've got you! Now you can order the most delicious cookies, right from the comfort of your living room through my Digital Cookie™ site—all while supporting my success, helping me learn essential skills, and powering new, unique and amazing experiences for me and my troop all year long. (You're the best!)

And if you've already bought Girl Scout Cookies this year, that's OK! Maybe you'd like to buy a few more to stock up for yourself, give to family and friends, or donate to Gift of Caring. Any way you slice it, it's a sweet deal.

As the customer orders boxes, the total amount updates.

The customer can compare the two delivery methods – shipping and in-person delivery by a Girl Scout. The benefits and costs of each are explained.

Once the order is completed, the customer simply clicks the “Start Checkout” button.

The customer then sees an order confirmation screen that even includes the option of even placing a new order!

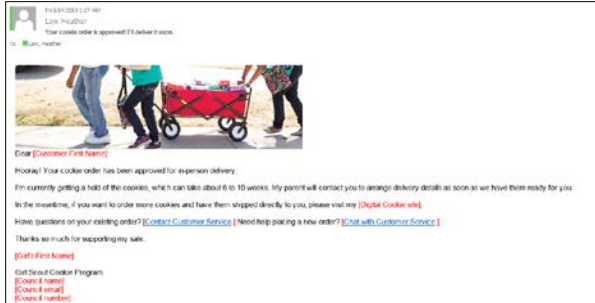

5

Customers will receive a series of emails about their order.

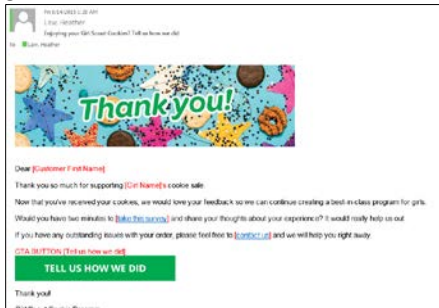

The first is an order confirmation letting them know that their order is pending approval from the parent.

Then an email is sent indicating the order has been approved, or a different email if the order has been declined.

An email thanking them for their support and asking them to complete a quick survey goes out at the end of the sale.

If the order contains a donation, the emails will reflect that as well.

All that's left is for the customer to receive a thank-you note from their favorite Girl Scout.

Remind your Girl Scout that a note helps create a satisfied customer who is likely to purchase cookies from her again.
